Human Values

This is more than a poem
It's a beautiful lesson
It's a warning to use lore
Our biggest and greatest weapon

We're all the same
We should be side by side
We're an army, we're together
And we have a generation to guide

Maybe one day we will have peace
Who knows if that's the truth?
We should teach our children how to love
And embrace their youth

Our generation should be an example
With all the lessons we teach
Because in that way the next one
Will know what goal they have to reach

Please teach them how to love
Because we all breath the same air
Stop judging our differences!
Who the hell cares?

I want a world with peace
A world with no fear
I want to have a family
Without pain, without tears...

Didn't Gandhi teach us anything?
Was Mandela's fight even worth it?
We should all be generous
Just like our earth is!

Please raise your hand
Because all life's matter
And I know that together
We can make our world better

So, all I want is nothing more
Than to hear love knocking at our door
Cause if I could see peace in our world
I would live happier, I'm sure

I invite you to be different
To make this fight your own
Join me and you'll realize
That you'll never be alone
